What does it take to run a business today?

13 fuel tanks

95 tonnes of fuel

A dedicated flight engineer moved fuel between the fuel tanks, so the aircraft stayed in perfect balance… even at twice the speed of sound.

1000+

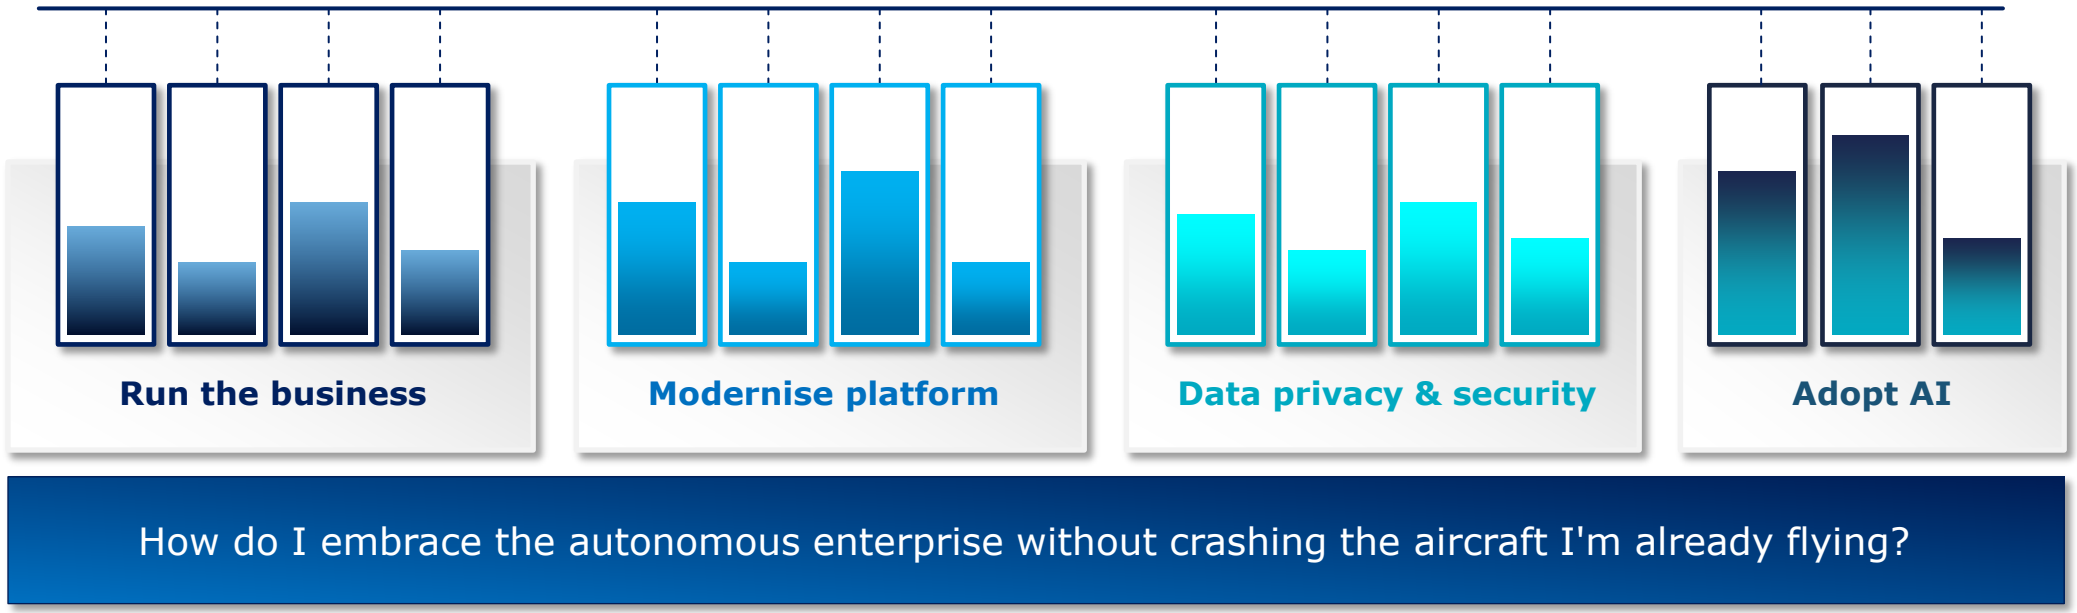

switches and dials in the cockpit

The interesting part is not the fuel, but who managed it.

Every flight needs a chart

Where am I? Where do I need to get to? Can I get there with the energy I have?

Accelerate enterprise AI with semantic logic

Connected knowledge

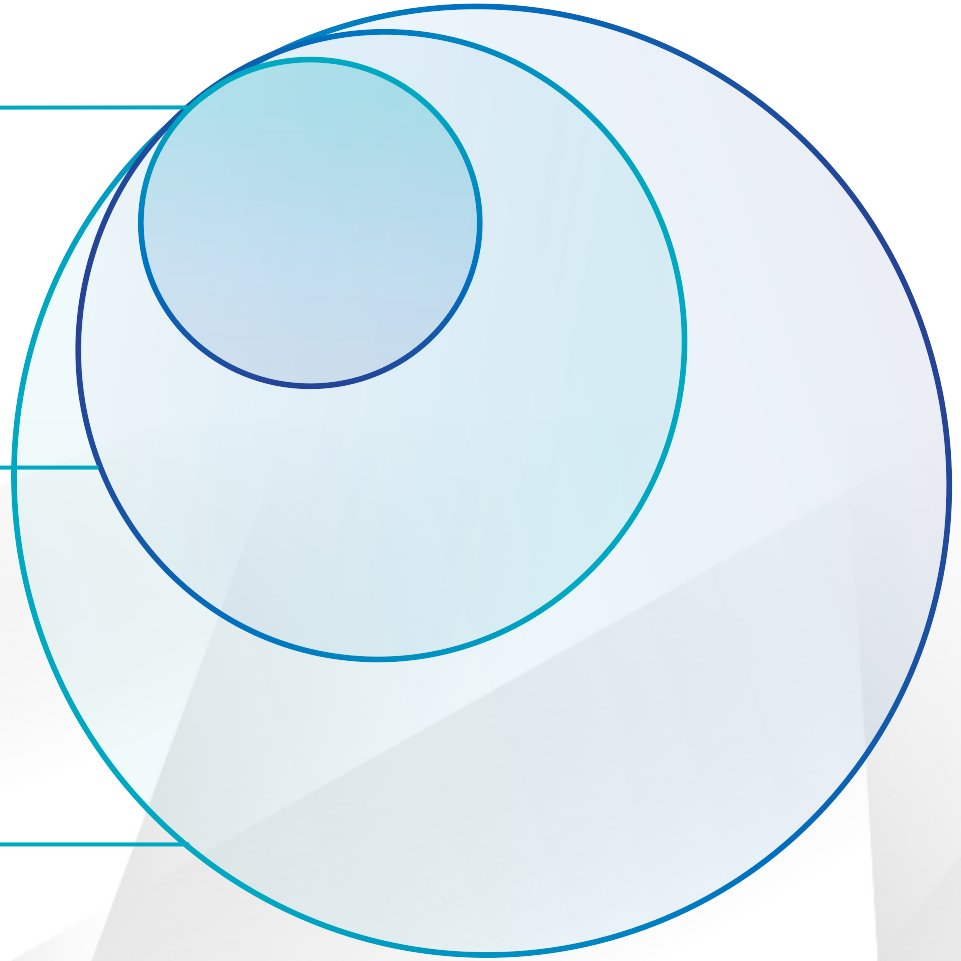

One unified understanding of what your data means. Powering AI across SAP S/4HANA, SAP SuccessFactors, Workday, Salesforce, and beyond.

Intelligent action

AI agents that securely reason, plan, and automate complex workflows across your entire data lifecycle.

Total transparency

Every AI decision is tracked and visible. Fully auditable, with zero black boxes.

The value driver: The semantic layer

A unified foundation that translates fragmented system complexity into a shared, machine-readable business language.

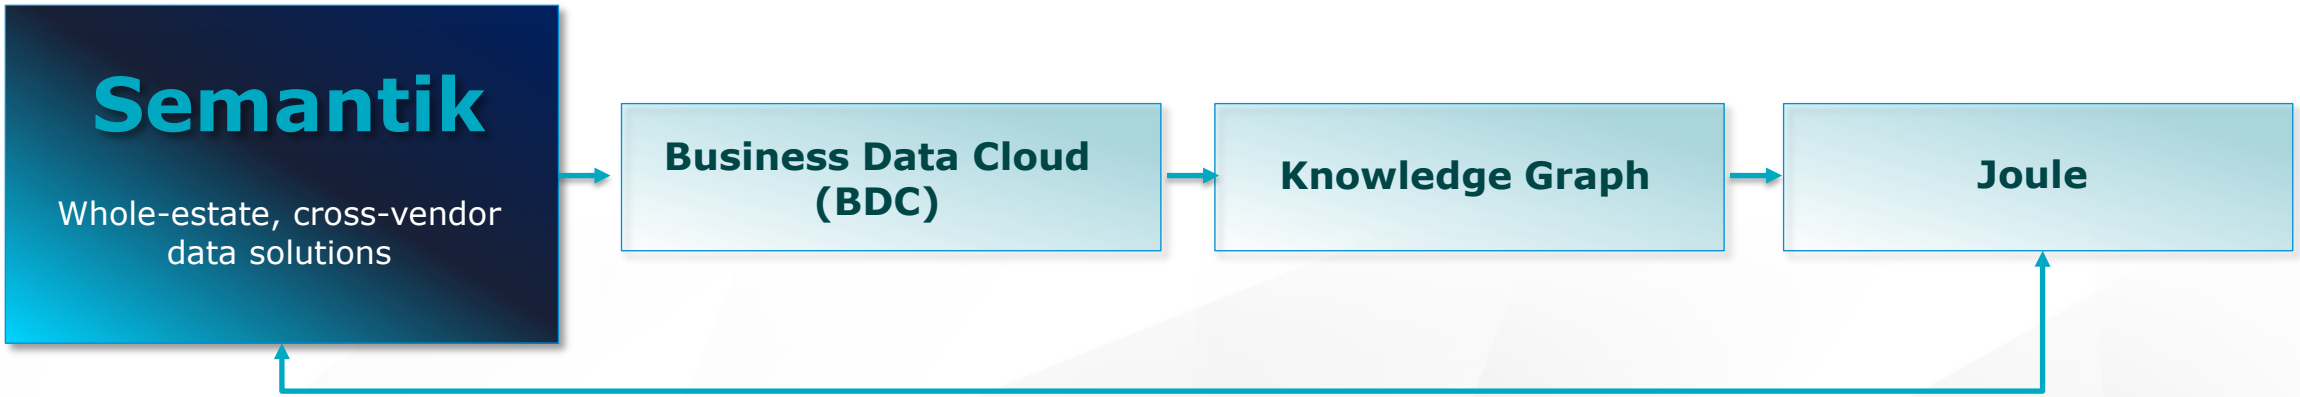

This is the context layer AI requires to function without guessing.

"The determining factor is not the Gen AI model. It's the semantic foundation beneath it." Thierry Audas, SAP 3 March 2026

SEMANTIK FLOW · CONTEXT

Scheduled archiving keeps BTP HANA costs under control

BUSINESS REQUIREMENT

HANA on BTP keeps growing, and so does the cost

- Client runs multiple BTP apps, and the number keeps growing
- Every app adds data to the HANA database, which drives up cost
- Need: archive data on a regular schedule to keep cost under control

OUR PROPOSED SOLUTION

Semantik Flow moves BTP data into Archive Central

- Part of the Semantik journey, extending beyond the SAP NetWeaver stack
- Connects to HANA DB on BTP and moves data into Archive Central
- Configurable, with a one-time connectivity setup

HOW IT WORKS

SAP HANA on BTP
Data from multiple BTP apps

Semantik Flow
Configurable, scheduled archiving

Archive Central
Archived data, off the HANA DB

value through innovation
